Design Thinking Live Nov 07 2020 "Ich wünsche möglichst vielen jungen Menschen die Chance, Teil eines solchen Projektteams zu sein und ein Botschafter des Design Thinkings zu werden." Frank Elstner war beeindruckt von dem, was er am Hasso-Plattner-Institut (HPI) erlebte. Sein Vortrag über die Ideenentwicklung zu "Wetten, dass ..?", zu dem ihn Ulrich Weinberg, Leiter der D-School am HPI, eingeladen hatte, mündete schon bald in ein Gemeinschaftsprojekt, aus dem u. a. die Idee "Book Ambassadors" – Prominente als Buchbotschafter – entwickelt wurde. Wie Elstner berichten auch die anderen Beiträger aus Forschung, Lehre und Wirtschaft (darunter Jochen Gürtler, SAP; Martin Wegner, DHL; Julia Leihener, Telekom Creation Center) über ihre Erfahrungen oder besser ihre Erlebnisse mit Design Thinking. Sie machen anschaulich, dass und wie Problemlösung, Ideenfindung und "echte" Innovation im interdisziplinär, experimentell und vor allem nutzerorientiert angelegten Rahmen besser und erfolgreicher möglich sind als in herkömmlichen

Innovationsprozessen. Für sie alle steht Design Thinking für eine Denkweise, eine Art, die Welt zu sehen, in deren Zentrum unbedingt der Mensch steht – als Kunde, als Nutzer, als Lernender –, auf den sich alle Entwicklungs- und Innovationsarbeit beziehen soll. Sie wollen vermitteln, wie Design Thinking sich "anfühlt", welche Wirkungen, bis hinein in den persönlichen Alltag, sich ergeben, wie sich eine neue Form der Aufmerksamkeit und Achtsamkeit, eine Haltung des vernetzten Denkens einstellt und schließlich – auf Unternehmensebene – eine neue Arbeitskultur entstehen kann.

Usability Success Stories Apr 12 2021 People spend increasing amounts of time and effort interacting with complex hardware and software products. Some of the products we interact with are easy to learn and easy to remember. Some are even a pleasure to use. Others are hard to learn, hard to use, and frustrate us at every turn. But it is not just the user that pays the cost in such cases. Poor usability also imposes significant costs on product producers. Companies that make hard-to-use products incur higher support costs, spend more on rework, and have less satisfied customers. These outcomes can be avoided by applying the techniques of usability engineering and user-centred design (UCD) during product development. This book shows how usability and UCD practitioners do this by studying users' needs and abilities, designing the product accordingly, and verifying the design through additional testing with users. Despite the positive return on investment for usability engineering activities, many organizations view usability engineering as a non-critical part of the product development process. This book seeks to change this by relating a number of cases where usability engineering contributed significantly to the solution of a business problem. Evidence is drawn from experiences within a range of private and public sector organizations showing how usability work can best be organized and executed within a business environment. The organizational factors that facilitate or impede the application of usability engineering are also discussed. The book clearly explains the barriers to be overcome as well as highlighting the factors promoting success. A wide range of applications are covered, including web-based e-commerce, medical devices and software, process control management systems, financial services applications, consumer desktop applications and interactive voice response systems. Usability Success Stories provides a valuable guide for business managers and technical staff as well as for practitioners within the field itself.

Systemisches Innovationsmanagement Oct 07 2020

Gutes Innovationsmanagement lässt sich weder auf diszipliniertes Projektmanagement noch auf die "geniale Idee" reduzieren. Nach aktuellen Erkenntnissen der Organisations- und Evolutionstheorie ist Innovation vielmehr ein stetiger Prozess des Wandels. In dem Leitfaden geht es nicht nur um die klassischen Tools des Innovationsmanagements, sondern vor allem um ein schlüssiges Vorgehensmodell für die Praxis: die von den Autoren entwickelte "Innovationshelix". Das Modell bietet wirksame Werkzeuge, mit denen die Innovationskraft von Organisationen gesteigert und nachhaltig verankert werden kann.

Organisationskenntnisse benötigt deswegen nicht nur der Organisationsspezialist, sondern in besonderem Maße auch die Führungskraft. Kenntnisse der Methoden und Werkzeuge organisatorischer Arbeit sind für viele Ingenieure und Naturwissenschaftler ebenso zur Voraussetzung für die erfolgreiche Bewältigung ihrer Aufgaben geworden wie für Betriebswirte. Es wurde großer Wert auf eine leicht verständliche Darstellung gelegt. Viele Abbildungen, Kontrollfragen mit Lösungen und Praxisbeispiele tragen dazu bei, dass der Leser einen raschen Lernerfolg erzielen kann.

EHealth: Combining Health Telematics, Telemedicine, Biomedical Engineering and Bioinformatics to the Edge Sep 05 2020 Current demographic, economic and social conditions which developed countries are faced with require a paradigm change for delivering high quality and efficient health services. In that context, healthcare systems have to turn from organization-centered to process-oriented and finally towards individualized patient care, also called personal care, based on ehealth platform services. Interoperability requirements for ubiquitous personalized health services reach beyond current concepts of health information integration among professional stakeholders and related Electronic Patient Records. Future personal health platforms particularly have to maintain semantic interoperability among systems using different modalities and technologies, different knowledge representation and domain experts' languages as well as different coding schemes and terminologies to include home care, as well as personal and mobile systems. This development is not restricted to regions or countries, but appears globally, requiring a comprehensive international collaboration. This publication within the series Studies in Health Technology and Informatics presents papers from leading international experts representing all domains involved in ehealth.
